The Stoic Trilogy Of Desire

The Financier is a novel by Theodore Dreiser, based on real-life streetcar tycoon Charles Yerkes. Dreiser started writing his manuscript in 1911, and the following year published the first part of his lengthy work as The Financier. The second part appeared in 1914 as The Titan; the third volume of his Trilogy of Desire was also Dreiser's final novel, The Stoic (1947).

Lovely, lyrical, and achingly sad. Shiver is more introspective than most YA books and is sometimes criticized for being too slow or wordy, but I found it to be beautifully written, tragic, and a gorgeous take on werewolf lore. Sam's desperate struggle to hold onto his humanity is incredibly poignant, and his heartrending relationship with Grace is deeply emotional and sweet.

The design of this open-world feels heavily inspired by the dark art style of Berserk — a comparison that Capcom never denied. In fact, Dragon's Dogma wore this inspiration proudly on its sleeve and released two armor sets as limited-time equipment as a cross-promotion with Berserk for the release of the film trilogy Berserk: The Golden Age Arc.
